YELLOW CRUST ON BABY

Would Crack Open and Scab Causing Terrible Itching—Cured by Cuticura.

"Our baby had a yellow crust on his head which I could not keep away. When I thought I had succeeded in getting his head clear, it would start again by the crown of his head, crack and scale, and cause terrible itching. I then got Cuticura Soap and Ointment, washing the scalp with the soap and then applying the Ointment. A few treatments made a complete cure. I have advised a number of mothers to use Cuticura, when I have been asked about the same ailment of their babies. Mrs. John Boyce, Pine Bush, N. Y."

DERANGED NERVES

DISTRESSING TROUBLES LEFT BY ST. VITUS AND GRIP.

Woman Afflicted for Years by Strange Spells of Numbness and Weakness—Recovers Perfect Health.

When she was fourteen years old, Mrs. Ida L. Brown had St. Vitus' dance. She finally got over the most noticeable features of the strange ailment, but was still troubled by very uncomfortable sensations, which she recently described as follows:

"One hand, half of my face, and half of my tongue would get cold and numb. These feelings would come on last for about ten minutes, and then go away, several times a day. Besides I would have palpitation of the heart, and my strength would get so low that I could hardly breathe. As time went on these spells kept coming oftener and growing worse. The numbness would sometimes extend over half my body."

"How did you get rid of them?"

"It seemed for a long time as if I never could get rid of them. It was not until about six years ago that I found a remedy that had virtue enough in it to reach my case. That was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and they have since entirely cured me."

"Did it take long to effect a cure?"

"No! I hadn't taken the whole of the first box before I saw a great improvement. So I kept on using them, growing better all the time, until I had taken eight boxes and then I was perfectly well, and I have remained in good health ever since with one exception."

"What was that?"

"Oh! that was when I had the grip. I was in bed, under the doctor's care, for two weeks. When I got up I had dreadful attacks of dizziness. I had to grasp hold of something or I would fall right down. I was just miserable, and when I saw the doctor was not helping me, I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills again. In a short time they cured me of that trouble too, and I have never had any dizzy spells since."

Mrs. Brown lives at No. 1705 DeWitt street, Mattoon, Illinois. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are without an equal for the rapid and thorough cure of nervous prostration. They expel the poison left in the system by such diseases as grip and the best of tonics in all cases of weakness. They are sold by every druggist.

In order to get into society you must have plenty of money and be unable to remember how you got it.

AGRICULTURE

The Corn Crop.

I never realized the importance of the corn crop to the United States till I started to study up the statistics of corn growing. I was under the impression that it was grown on but a limited area and that there were many states in which corn was not grown at all except a little sweet corn for the family. My surprise was great to find that corn is grown in every state in the Union.

There are over five million farms in the United States, and corn is grown on 85 per cent of them. That leaves only 15 per cent of the farms without corn, and many of these are fruit farms, chicken farms, stock farms and ranches. I think a crop that is so extensively grown is well worthy all the attention that is given it by the agricultural colleges and farmers' institutes.

I used to wonder why at the farmers' institutes the speakers did not pay more attention to the growing of other crops, such as beans, turnips, carrots, green peas and the like. I asked a professor why they did not have more variety in their programs, and he replied that the first work of the stations was to teach the farmers how to grow corn, potatoes and the few leading crops which are of so much importance.

I realize the truth of that now. Especially so when I consider further that the five great states in this little western country produce half of the corn grown in the United States. If any people ever studied corn we should study it, and I propose to do my share.

After all, I begin to see that we can get rich selling corn and still keep up the fertility of our farms. If we go at the matter right, the starch in the kernel of the corn is only the carbon caught by the leaves from the air. We are thus selling only air so far as the starch matter is concerned, and that is a large part of the whole crop, for it also comprises most of the fiber in the stalk. It may be difficult to keep up the fertility of our land in raising wheat, but not in raising corn, and if we don't learn how to both raise corn and improve our land it seems to me we are stupid.

I am more of an enthusiast in corn growing than ever, but I realize that we have got to cut loose from some of the out-of-date methods we have been following. Here is for your study on the problem of corn raising.

Horace Freeman, McLean County, Illinois.

Locality and Corn Varieties.

An instructor at the Illinois Agricultural College recently said to a group of farmers, relative to corn: "There is more difference between the same varieties grown in different localities than there is between the different varieties grown in the same locality."

This is rather a strong statement, and we do not believe it can be substantiated in fact, for there is certainly a great difference between Boone County white and Leaning corn, even when grown in the same township. We judge, however, that the instructor was merely using a little extreme language to point a relative truth. He doubtless meant that certain allied varieties of corn were more affected by locality than by varietal difference.

It has been demonstrated again and again that locality does very greatly affect the corn plant, much more than some other kinds of grains grown on the farm. This is no doubtless to the great chagrin of those who have taken place in the corn plant in the last fifty years. So much is this the case that some seed houses grow corn in certain latitudes for sale only in those latitudes. One seed house some years ago published a chart giving the isothermal lines and ending on the chart what kinds of corn to order for each territory.

The professors at the agricultural colleges recognize this fact, but few are as yet able to distinctly define it. There are more men studying corn in more localities than ever before, and the massed evidence that is being accumulated will determine many of the questions that we are now asking.

High Priced Corn.

After an exhibit of corn at the Iowa Agricultural College, the premium ears were put up at auction. The ear of corn that won first prize sold for $11; 100 ears that won a $2,000 premium sold for an aggregate of $102. One breeder that had forty ears of corn on exhibition had them back at $38; another man paid $13 for ten ears, while another ten ears sold for $12. One collection of twenty ears brought $25. The third best single ear was sold for $2.50. The grain will be used for seed purposes.

Good landers are necessary on the farm where stock is to be kept.

Woman's Kidney Troubles

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing This Fatal Disease.

Mrs. J. W. Lang and Mrs. S. Frake

Of all the diseases known, with which women are afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.

Being fully aware of this, Mrs. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for women's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. The Vegetable Compound acts in harmony with the laws that govern the entire female system, and while there are many so called remedies for kidney troubles, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women, and thousands have been cured of serious kidney derangements by it. Derangements of the feminine organs quickly affect the kidneys, and when a woman has such symptoms as pain or weight in the loins, backache, bearing down pains, urine too frequent, scanty or high colored, or deposits like brick dust in unusual thirst, swelling of hands and feet, swelling under the eyes or sharp pains in the back running down the inside of her groin, she may be sure her kidneys are affected and should lose no time in combating the disease with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the woman's remedy for women's ills.

The following letters show how marvelously successful it is.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound: a Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Mrs. Samuel Frake, of Prospect Plains, N. J., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I cannot thank you enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. When I first wrote to you I had suffered for years with what the doctor called kidney trouble and congestion of the womb. My back ached dreadfully all the time, and I suffered so with that bearing-down feeling I could hardly walk across the room. I did not get any better, so decided to stop doctoring and try your medicine. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am thankful to say it has entirely cured me. I do all my own work, have no more backache and all the bad symptoms have disappeared.

I cannot praise your medicine enough, and would advise all women suffering with kidney trouble to try it.

Mrs. J. W. Lang, of 626 Third Avenue, New York, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I have been a great sufferer with kidney trouble. My back ached all the time and I was discouraged. I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure kidney disease, and I began to take it; and it has cured me when every thing else had failed. I have recommended it to lots of people and they all praise it very highly.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from kidney trouble, or any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Out of the great volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than likely she has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.
